Coronavirus: a book for children

After you have read the book

- ✓ For children to really understand and engage with a book, it can be helpful to follow reading with some extra activities for them to use their new knowledge.
- ✓ These activities can help children engage with the content of the book and ensure that they remember some of the key messages.

1

Write a card to a friend. Keep your children connected with people they care about.

2

Draw a picture showing what you are doing at home during the CMCO and send it to a friend.

3

Paint a bright rainbow and put it in your window for people to see as they walk past. This will make them smile.

4

Make a checklist for your family so they don't forget anything they need before they go out.

5

Create a video telling your friends what you have learned in this book and share it with your family and friends.
